

Resourceful

MONDAY June 22nd – In the middle of the night the wind kicked up again, blowing and rocking the boat all over the place. We moved to this bay specifically to get out of the wind but of course the wind had switched directions just to irritate us one more day. After spending a few hours at the beach in the morning we decide to pack up and move to Fossil bay on the same island.

We are trying to get a good hike in everyday so today we decide to hike out to Johnson Point. Ava once again complained but got into the grove as we got going. It was a beautiful hike through the woods as Skylar searched for a tree branch that would serve as a replacement tent pole. Incredible views all the way out to the point and Skylar found a branch for what he thought would work to keep his tent up. It actually worked but not without a little modification from a broom handle and some zip ties. I guess he will be camping once again. He's a resourceful kid

With Skylar's tent all setup on the beach we all joined him for a nice fire and marshmallow roasting.
